

SolGien quits; aide chairs
pressured by Malacañang
By Michael Liza Ueno and deonant Muen

MANILA, Philippines — SolGien, a former aide of President Ferdinand Marcos, has resigned from his post as chairman of the Philippine National Police (PNP) after being pressured by the Malacañang Palace to do so.

The PNP chief, Gen. Romeo Brawley, said he was "very sorry" for the resignation of SolGien, who was a close aide of Marcos.

SolGien, 62, was appointed as PNP chief in 1990. He was a close aide of Marcos and was known for his loyalty to the president.

He was also a member of the PNP's first board of directors, which was formed in 1990.

SolGien's resignation was announced on Monday.

Not even 4: Gov't witness should wear 'bayong'

By Michael Liza Ueno and deonant Muen

MANILA, Philippines — A witness in the case of the late President Ferdinand Marcos should not wear a bayong (a traditional Filipino woven basket) when he appears in court, according to the Department of Justice.

The witness, who is a former aide of Marcos, was scheduled to appear in court on Monday.

The Department of Justice said that the witness should wear a "proper" attire when he appears in court.

AFP admits role in keeping GMA in power; Joker says it's the new opposition

People stand behind a high metal fence along the border of a military camp in Manila. The fence is said to be a security measure to prevent the public from entering the camp. The fence is also a symbol of the military's power and control.

THE ARMED FORCES OF THE Philippines yesterday acknowledged its role in keeping President Manuel Aran in power, warning that the nation would fall apart if a gun is to promote truth between power lines seeking the President's arrest.

The AFP announced the disclosure last night in a "statement" to the AFP.

The statement said that the AFP had been a "silent partner" in the President's stay in power. It said that the AFP had been "cooperating" with the President's administration in keeping him in power.

The statement also said that the AFP had been "cooperating" with the President's administration in keeping him in power.

The company's business plan for 1997-1998 includes the construction of a new 100,000-sq-ft plant in the town of Pinedale, 10 miles from the main campus and the largest facility with an adjacent waste water pond. The new plant is now going through an approval process.

There is also the issue of how to use a part of the property as a private area for the use of guests or the family, which is not recommended.

Shoppers could face a variety of options if the government's plan to increase the gas tax is approved. The plan would allow a gas tax of 10¢ per gallon, but the government would have to use the money for transportation.

It is expected to increase the gas tax to 10¢ per gallon, but the plan is still in the early stages. It would be a good idea to see how the government would use the money.

SolGen quits; aide claims pressured by Malacañang

Manila—SolGen Inc. has quit its bid to build a 1,000-megawatt power plant in the Philippines, a move that could set a precedent for other private power projects.

SolGen, a subsidiary of the American Electric Power Co. Inc., had been the only bidder for the project, which is part of a $1.5-billion power plant in the Philippines.

The project is part of a larger $1.5-billion power plant in the Philippines, which is part of a larger $1.5-billion power plant in the Philippines.

Fear now grips 3 Bulacan barangays

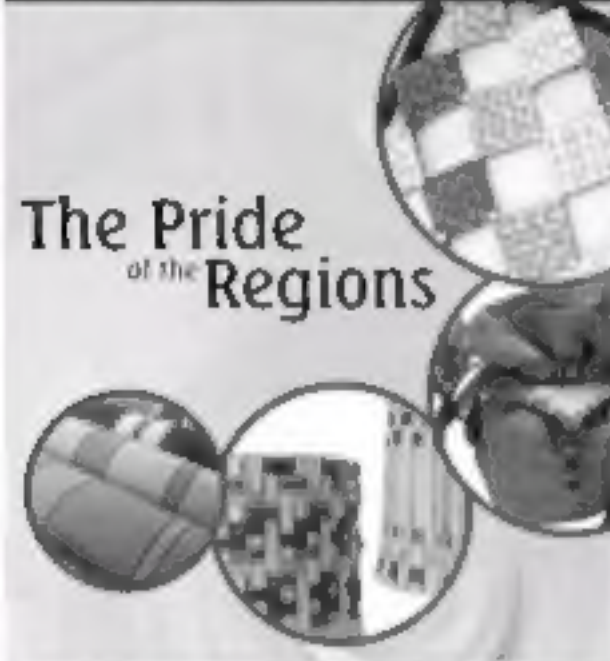

Bulacan—Three barangays in Bulacan are now gripped by fear after a series of bombings and shootings. The barangays are San Juan, San Mateo, and San Rafael.

The bombings and shootings have caused a lot of fear among the residents of the three barangays. The residents are now afraid to go out at night and to travel.

Editorial: The Philippines' economic growth is not sustainable without a more equitable distribution of income. The government must take steps to address the growing inequality and ensure that the benefits of growth are shared by all.

The Philippines has achieved remarkable economic growth in recent years, but this growth is not sustainable without a more equitable distribution of income. The government must take steps to address the growing inequality and ensure that the benefits of growth are shared by all.

One of the main causes of inequality is the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few. The government should implement policies to reduce this concentration, such as progressive taxation and social safety nets. Additionally, the government should invest in education and healthcare to improve the living standards of the poor.

Without these measures, the Philippines' economic growth will continue to be unsustainable, and the country will remain a developing nation. The government must take action now to ensure a more equitable and sustainable future for all Filipinos.

Command responsibility

WHILE THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT has taken steps to address the growing inequality and ensure that the benefits of growth are shared by all, it has also taken steps to address the growing inequality and ensure that the benefits of growth are shared by all.

Edsa gave the world just a glimpse of what RP can do

THE 1986 EDSA REVOLUTION was a landmark event in the history of the Philippines. It was a peaceful revolution that led to the end of the Marcos dictatorship and the restoration of democracy. The world watched in awe as a small group of people in a small country stood up to a powerful regime and won. It was a testament to the power of the people and the resilience of the Filipino spirit.

The EDSA Revolution was a turning point in the history of the Philippines. It was a moment when the people of the Philippines stood up for their rights and demanded change. It was a moment when the world saw the power of the people and the resilience of the Filipino spirit. The EDSA Revolution was a testament to the power of the people and the resilience of the Filipino spirit.

Liberal Party

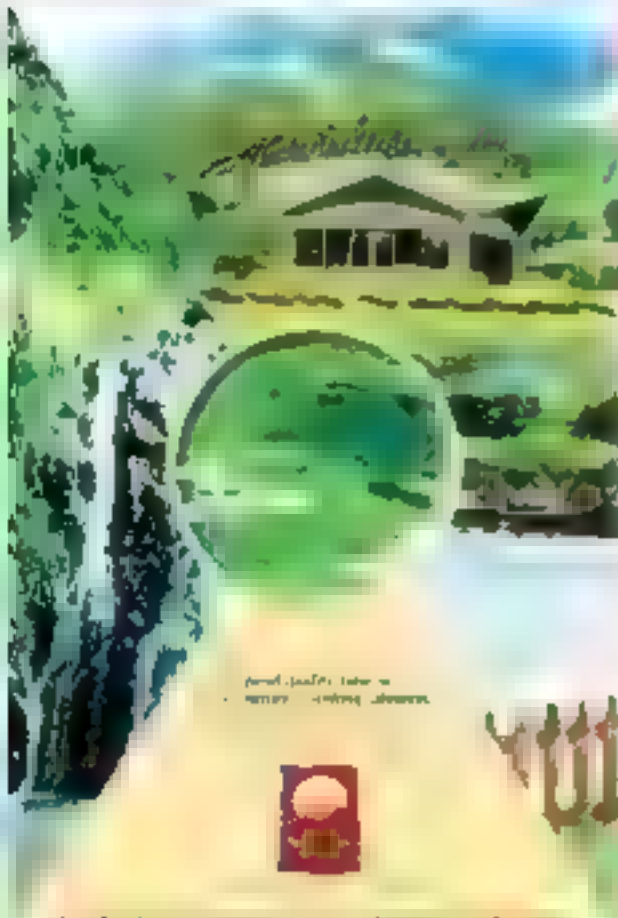

The Liberal Party is a political party in the Philippines. It was founded in 1946 and has since then been a major force in Philippine politics. The party has a long history of advocating for liberal values and principles. It has been a part of several governments and has played a significant role in the development of the Philippines.

When drilling costs start falling

When drilling costs start falling, it can have a significant impact on the oil and gas industry. Lower drilling costs can lead to increased production and lower prices for consumers. However, it can also lead to a decrease in investment in the industry, which could have long-term consequences for energy security.

Responsible and independent

Responsible and independent are two key qualities that are essential for any individual or organization. Being responsible means taking ownership of one's actions and being accountable for the results. Being independent means being able to make decisions and take actions without being influenced or controlled by others.

Nora Aunor to enroll in new drug program

By and Staff Writer
 The Philippine Daily Inquirer
 Manila, Philippines
 Nora Aunor, the actress and singer, has been enrolled in a new drug program for her alleged involvement in the sale of illegal drugs. The actress, who is currently on a probationary period, is expected to be monitored closely by the authorities. The program is designed to help individuals with drug addiction to overcome their habits and return to a normal life. Aunor is one of the many celebrities who have been caught in the drug trade in the Philippines. The case has attracted significant media attention and public scrutiny. The authorities hope that the program will be successful in helping Aunor and other participants to overcome their addiction.

Pacquiao ducks low, denies ex-lover's charges

By [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — Manny Pacquiao, the boxing champion, ducked a low blow from his ex-girlfriend, denying her charges that he had an affair with her. Pacquiao, who is currently on a hiatus from boxing, was seen in a public place, looking down and avoiding the media. The ex-lover, who is a well-known figure, had accused Pacquiao of having an affair with her while they were still together. Pacquiao's lawyer stated that the charges were unfounded and that Pacquiao was a devoted family man.

STATE OF EMERGENCY

Thaksin threatens to do a GMA to quell unrest

MANILA, April 23 — Prime Minister Thaksin Shinawatra has threatened to declare a state of emergency in Bangkok and other parts of Thailand if the current political crisis is not resolved by the end of the month. Thaksin said in a speech to parliament that he would take "any necessary measures" to restore order and stability to the country. He also warned that he would not hesitate to use force if the situation continued to deteriorate. The speech came as Thailand's political situation remains tense, with opposition leaders demanding the resignation of Thaksin's government. The opposition claims that the government has been involved in a series of human rights abuses and has been corrupt. Thaksin's government has denied these allegations and insists that it is committed to democratic principles and the rule of law.

Milosevic took wrong drugs, tests show

THE HAGUE, April 23 — A Dutch court has ruled that Slobodan Milosevic, the former president of Serbia, took the wrong drugs during his trial. The court found that Milosevic had been given a combination of drugs that was not approved by the court. The drugs included a sedative and a painkiller, which were given to him without his consent. The court also found that the drugs had caused Milosevic to become disoriented and confused. The court's decision is a significant blow to the prosecution, which had been relying on Milosevic's testimony. The court has ordered that Milosevic be given the correct drugs and that his trial be resumed. The prosecution has agreed to accept the court's decision.

Key super-earth found around nearby star

ASTRONOMERS have discovered a "super-earth" planet orbiting a star in the constellation of Aries. The planet, which is about 1.5 times the size of Earth, is located about 120 light-years from Earth. It is the first planet of this type to be discovered around a star in the constellation of Aries. The planet is thought to be a rocky planet with a thin atmosphere. It is located in the habitable zone of its star, which means that it may have liquid water on its surface. The discovery of this planet is a significant step towards the search for life in the universe. Astronomers are now working to determine the planet's composition and whether it is habitable.

Long road to a reward

By Richard
Rae Clancy III

Industry is the backbone of the economy. It provides the goods and services that we need to live and work. Without industry, we would have no jobs, no income, and no way to pay for the things we need. Industry is also the source of innovation and progress. It is the engine that drives the economy forward. We need to support industry and encourage it to grow. We need to invest in research and development, and we need to provide a favorable environment for businesses to thrive. Only then can we ensure a strong and healthy economy for the future.

By Dave Karger
 After a decade of directing, the 35-year-old director has finally found his voice. In his first feature, The Hot Chick, he explores the lives of a group of young women in a high school. The film is a comedy-drama that follows the journey of a young woman who is outcast from her school and finds a new family in a group of friends. The film is a testament to the director's ability to tell a story that is both funny and touching.

2 executive orders seen affecting vegetable trade

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — President Bush's executive orders on Tuesday could have a significant impact on the vegetable trade, according to industry officials. The orders, which were signed in the White House, are expected to affect the trade of certain vegetables, including tomatoes, cucumbers, and bell peppers. Industry officials are concerned that the orders could lead to increased tariffs and trade barriers, which could hurt the U.S. vegetable industry. The orders are part of a broader effort by the administration to address trade issues and protect U.S. interests. The vegetable industry is a major sector of the U.S. economy, and any changes to trade policy could have a significant impact on it.

With White House officials, President Bush on Tuesday signed executive orders that could affect the vegetable trade. The orders are expected to lead to increased tariffs and trade barriers, which could hurt the U.S. vegetable industry.

Ramp-Eda not living up to promise, DTI official says

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — A senior Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) official said Tuesday that Ramp-Eda, a government-backed venture capital fund, is not living up to its promise to support and develop local businesses. The official, who spoke at a press conference, said that Ramp-Eda has not provided the level of support and resources that it promised when it was established. He said that many of the businesses that Ramp-Eda has invested in are struggling, and that the fund has not been able to provide the necessary financial and technical assistance. The DTI is currently reviewing the situation and looking for ways to improve Ramp-Eda's performance. The fund was established to provide capital and support to local businesses, and it is expected to play a key role in the country's economic development.

DTI urges SMEs to go global

By BusinessWeek Staff

MANILA, Philippines — The Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) is urging small and medium enterprises (SMEs) to go global, as the country's economy continues to recover from the effects of the Asian financial crisis. DTI Secretary Eduardo Arroyo said that SMEs should look for new markets abroad to sustain their growth. He noted that the Philippines has a competitive advantage in the services sector, particularly in information technology and business process outsourcing. Arroyo encouraged SMEs to leverage these strengths to attract foreign investment and expand their customer base internationally.

BIR

By BusinessWeek Staff

MANILA, Philippines — The Philippine Deposit Insurance Corporation (PDIC) and the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) are seeking a deal to resolve a long-standing dispute over the payment of taxes on the corporation's assets. PDIC, which insures deposits in banks, has been facing financial difficulties and has been unable to pay its taxes to the BIR. The BIR, in turn, has been demanding payment of the taxes, leading to a series of legal battles. The two agencies have been in talks for some time, but no agreement has been reached yet. The dispute has caused significant uncertainty for both agencies and for the financial sector as a whole.

Figure 1. Schematic representation of the experimental design. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The control group received a standard dose of 10 mg/kg of body weight of the drug, while the experimental group received a higher dose of 20 mg/kg. The subjects were then subjected to a series of tests, including a pre-test, a post-test, and a follow-up test. The results of the tests were compared between the two groups to determine the effect of the drug on the subjects' performance.

Figure 1 is a schematic representation of the experimental design. It shows a sequence of events: a subject is presented with a stimulus (a word or picture), then a response is recorded, and finally, the subject is asked to rate the stimulus. The response and rating are recorded on a scale from 1 to 5.

Figure 1 is a line graph showing the effect of the concentration of the inhibitor on the rate of polymerization. The y-axis is labeled "Rate of polymerization" and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The x-axis is labeled "Concentration of inhibitor" and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The curve starts at (0, 1.0) and decreases as the concentration of inhibitor increases, approaching 0.5 at a concentration of 1.0.

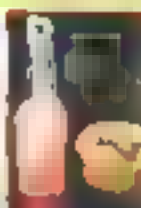

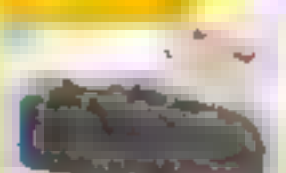

Figure 1 is a line graph showing the effect of temperature on the growth of P. aeruginosa in the presence of 100 μ g/ml of 1,2-dichloroethane. The y-axis is labeled 'Growth at 27°C' and has a logarithmic scale with major ticks at 10^0 , 10^2 , 10^4 , 10^6 , and 10^8 . The x-axis is labeled 'Temperature at 27°C' and has a logarithmic scale with major ticks at 10^0 , 10^1 , 10^2 , 10^3 , 10^4 , 10^5 , and 10^6 . There are four data series plotted:

- Control (open circles): Shows high growth, reaching approximately 10^8 at 10^6 on the x-axis.
- 1,2-dichloroethane (filled circles): Shows high growth, reaching approximately 10^8 at 10^6 on the x-axis.
- 1,2-dichloroethane + 100 μ g/ml (open squares): Shows significantly reduced growth, reaching approximately 10^2 at 10^6 on the x-axis.
- 1,2-dichloroethane + 100 μ g/ml + 100 μ g/ml (filled squares): Shows growth similar to the control, reaching approximately 10^8 at 10^6 on the x-axis.

 The legend is located in the top right corner of the graph area.

As shown in the table, the results of the regression analysis indicate that the model is a good fit for the data, $F(1, 10) = 10.00$, $p < 0.01$. The regression equation is $y = 0.0001x + 0.0001$, where y is the number of days of absence and x is the number of days of work. The regression coefficient is 0.0001, indicating that for every day of work, the number of days of absence increases by 0.0001 days.

A national study to assess the readiness of dentists to treat emergency patients has found that 70% of dentists in the United States are willing to accept emergency patients, but only 30% of dentists are willing to accept emergency patients who are not insured.

It is not the only thing that makes the book a good one. The author also provides a detailed history of the book's development, from its origins in the 1960s to its current form. This is a book that is both informative and entertaining, and it is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of the book.

to the fact that the majority of the population is still illiterate, they must also use oral tradition, which can provide a good first step.

As shown in a number of other countries, the use of computer-aided design (CAD) for the design of a building can be a very cost-effective way to reduce the risk of a building being rejected by the regulatory authorities.
